

WSCC offers convenient ways to report workplace injuries:

In partnership with stakeholders, we ensure workplace safety, and care for workers. If you suffer a workplace injury, contact us as soon as possible. Call our 24-hour reporting line at:

1-800-661-0792

Employers now have one more way to report workplace injuries. WSCC Claims Services has its own email addresses in both territories. To report by email, send your incident details or a detailed message to:

Who We Are

Workers' compensation is insurance for workers and employers. Employers pay assessments into a common fund and the Workers' Safety and Compensation Commission (WSCC) pays benefits to injured workers or their dependants using this fund. Workers' compensation is the law and no industries are exempt.

We administer the Workers' Compensation Acts, the Safety Acts, the Mine Health and Safety Acts, the Explosives Use Acts, and associated Regulations to protect workers in the Northwest Territories and Nunavut. The WSCC strongly promotes incident and injury prevention to improve Northern safety cultures through education and support, and ensures workers injured on the job receive the appropriate care and compensation.

Employers in the Northwest Territories and Nunavut cover our administrative costs, the cost of compensation to injured workers or their dependants, as well as payment of pensions, medical aid, and rehabilitation.

A seven-person Governance Council, representing the interests of workers, employers, and the public sector, governs the WSCC. The Northwest Territories and Nunavut Ministers responsible appoint the Governance Council.

What We Do

In addition to improving Northern safety cultures through education and support, our main business is insurance and compensation for injured workers. We have a number of divisions, providing internal and external services, to ensure we address the needs of employers and workers. External services include Industrial and Mine Safety, Claims and Medical Services, and Employer Services.

- 1. PREVENTION SERVICES
 - Industrial and Mine Safety
- 2. CLIENT & CENTRAL SERVICES
 - Claims and Medical Services and Human Resources
- 3. REVENUE & FINANCIAL SERVICES
 - Employer Services and Treasury & Procurement
- 4. CORPORATE COMMUNICATIONS & POLICY SERVICES
 - Review Committee and Communications & Policy
- 5. EXECUTIVE SERVICES
- 6. INFORMATION SERVICES
- 7. LEGAL SERVICES
- 8. NUNAVUT OPERATIONS

We partner with other organizations to help further our education and awareness mandate. The Northern Territories Federation of Labour (NTFL), the Northern Safety Association (NSA), and St. John Ambulance all assist with delivering safety and training programs.

Resources and Outreach

The WSCC headquarters is in Yellowknife, with regional operations in Iqaluit, Rankin Inlet, and Inuvik.

We have website addresses for our Northwest Territories and Nunavut offices, wsc.nt.ca and wsc.nu.ca, respectively. The WSCC website is a good resource for our support materials, forms, and services. If you cannot find something on our website, please call us at 1-800-661-0792 or email, webmaster@wsc.nt.ca.

We offer safety education year-round at different locations throughout both Territories. The current schedule is on our website under Workers or Employers. To register, email safetyeducation@wsc.nt.ca.

Our young worker initiatives include strong participation in the Skills Canada competitions, as well as our young worker campaign, Don't Be a Number. Visit dontbeanumber.ca for more information.

We attend and celebrate a number of events throughout the year in various locations across both Territories. We celebrate North American Occupational Safety and Health (NAOSH) Week every May, as well as Mine Rescue in June. We participate in tradeshow across the North; from industrial and community shows to youth competitions. We also pay our respects to workers that have lost their lives on the job, on the Day of Mourning.

Vision Statement

Eliminate workplace diseases and injuries.
